WHERE ARE THEY NOW!!

It's with great pleasure that we bring you the latest update on the Moore family, who have played a significant role in the company's journey across generations. From their first appearance back in 2008 (as seen on the cover page), when Miranda, Juliana, and Bianca—lovingly referred to as the "3 Stitches"—were just children, we have witnessed their remarkable growth into young adults poised to make their marks in the world.

(Miranda Moore) 23

Miranda, the eldest, graduated from Biola University with a major in Studio Art. She has embarked on a promising career at Hidden House Coffee while taking on various art commissions. Miranda plans to further her education in graduate school soon, aiming to deepen her expertise and passion for art.

Jules, fresh from high school graduation, is gearing up for an exciting journey at OCC to pursue a career in ultrasound diagnostic sonography, with a focus on obstetrics. Her aspirations to become an ultrasound technician specializing in prenatal care reflect her caring nature and dedication to helping others and shining God's love to all she meets.

(Bianca Moore) 16

Meanwhile, Bianca, the youngest of the trio, has just earned her driver's license and continues to dazzle everyone with her angelic voice. She leads worship both at school and in her community, showcasing her musical talents and commitment to spreading God's love and testament through her voice.

(Juliana Moore) 18

As we reflect on their growth and achievements, it's clear that time has flown by since that memorable first photo of the "3 Stitches" almost 17 years ago. We are immensely proud to share parts of their journey every step of the way. Their story is a testament to their individual successes and the strong bonds that define our company's legacy.

We look forward to sharing more updates on the Moore family as they continue to flourish in their pursuits. Thank you for being part of our extended family and celebrating these milestones with us.
