

ABOUT KYM GOLDUP-GRAHAM

Kym lives on the Gold Coast, Queensland Australia and is an international speaker, teacher, author, co-inventor of sewing related products and together with Ann Duncan, they own The Sewing Revolution Pty Ltd.

She's often described as an "EDUTAINER" who will educate and entertain you. Kym's fascinating journey—from a medical background to a detective, author, and inventor—has taught her powerful life lessons, which she shares throughout her events. After experiencing PTSD, sewing became much more than a hobby for her—it became a source of healing and purpose.

She won The Beam Magazine, Women to Watch 2022 award in Australia. Kym has presented and taught extensively in Australia, New Zealand, Thailand and the U.S. She has been invited to present and teach for most of the major Sewing Machines manufacturers and now spends some of the year in the USA speaking and teaching two day events for Janome America. A highlight of her speaking career, was when she was invited to be the key note speaker at Quilters Night out at Sew Expo in Puyallup, Washington.

Kym and Ann combine patchwork, quilting, appliqué and machine embroidery together to achieve amazing results. Their work speaks for itself—exceptional in quality and uniquely original. Their guiding principle? There are no rules.

They've been featured in numerous magazines—both as contributors and in profiles highlighting their innovative work. Always pushing boundaries, they continue to develop new techniques and tools for every aspect of sewing. They have now invented several different rulers that save time and effort with patchwork and quilting, as well as machine embroidery and applique placement. They are proud to be part of the Creative Grid USA family, and have designed rulers for them.

Their first book, The Sewing Revolution Instruction Book on their techniques is about to go into a seventh reprint. Their other book, Infinity Exquisite and Unique Quilts has been reprinted and very successful being sold worldwide and has been reprinted.

Kym's passion and enthusiasm for sewing shine through as she shares the tips and secrets she's picked up on her creative journey. You are guaranteed to not only learn from this presentation, but also be entertained and leave with a smile on your face.

Knowledge is nothing unless it is shared with others.

Her mission is to inspire and motivate sewers, quilters and patch workers in creating things beyond anything they dreamed possible. You will leave happier than you were before.
